Homo Ex Data – The Natural of the Artificial

A must-have for designers, product manufacturers, marketing and communication consultants, design universities and people with a high affinity for innovations and product trends

The book presents the complexity of the interplay between humans and technology and show how they mutually influence each other. This also evidences how much the role of the designer is changing and how design creates a new reality of life through marrying human factors and digital technology. Professor Dr Peter Zec analyses this paradigm shift in an introductory essay, and comes to the following conclusion: "The natural and the artificial will combine to form a new bioartificial reality." A new type of human is emerging – Homo ex data, a human whose living circumstances are determined by the generation and transfer of data.

Red Dot Design Yearbooks are real-time chronicles of the latest design developments in product design. As such, older editions are veritable show-cases of design history and, in publication since 1991, span over more than two decades.

Observing product design over time is vital for anyone seeking to understand the nature of design trends, e.g., product designers or purchasing managers from retail who are responsible for developing, launching, marketing, and selling products. Design historians, university professors, and libraries are also among the main target clientele in terms of collecting.

Our tip to design professionals: Start your collection of Red Dot Design Yearbooks now! And, watch your collection grow, year by year, edition by edition. As chronicles of our time, the yearbooks brim with documentation on the latest must-have and nice-to-have products. They also serve as lifestyle guides and indispensable reference works.

International Yearbook Communication Design and Red Dot Design Concept Yearbook

Design professionals not only need to stay abreast of the latest trends in design, they also need to observe and examine trends in a cross-inspirational context over time. Red Dot has been publishing its International Yearbook Communication Design since 2006, and the Red Dot Design Concept Yearbook since 2005. We encourage all design professionals, and especially those from communication design, to engage in the rewarding experience of collecting the International Yearbook Communication Design on an annual basis. Product designers, for their part, are invited to "make a contract with the future" by collecting the Design Concept yearbooks, which predict promising trends in product design. The idea is not simply to collect these works for the sake of owning them, but to develop a culture of observing design over time and on an ongoing basis.

Backlist Red Dot Edition

In the following pages, the Red Dot backlist is presented. Our main publications are the yearbooks, which champion the world's best achievements in design for a given year. These are published for product design, communication design, and design concepts respectively. In keeping with founder and CEO of Red Dot, Professor Dr Peter Zec's belief that "communication needs design," each yearbook is a creative product in and of itself that incorporates the design spirit of its time. The design catalogs are thus visually appealing, not to mention fun! In addition to high-resolution photographs and sophisticated layout, they also contain detailed product descriptions and interviews with acclaimed designers. With our other books, Red Dot engages in contemporary discourse on design.
